Vocotext; is the best consumer communication tool for SME's who want to interact and better understand their customers, leverage on the accumulated data available and work with the data to upgrade their businesses.

For you, we have created a powerful software to attend to all these factors. You now get to privately communicate with the consumers that subscribe to your service. You get to reward them, test new products on them, send them surveys about your latest products or services and so much more.

We promise that this platform can only get better. The easy to understand UI & UX will get you results in no time along with the integration of external content like importing your mailing list and getting to use them on this platform. All this and more will ease your marketing campaigns and enhance your business decision for a more profitable yearly revenue projection.
